The ladies of the Hospital Association will hold a meeting the last of the week with a full attendance of all those interested in the Paris Hospital work. Let this work be revived with increased interest our neighbor city of Cynthiana started the question there after we began and they will have a hospital in running order before Paris gets started good. No city in Kentucky needs a hospital like Paris does, and it is an institution that every one should take an interest in.

If some of our capitalists desire to build a monument that would stand to the end of time in memory of his name now is the time—talk to the ladies.

Huge Task.

It was a huge task to undertake the cure of such a bad case of kidney disease, as that of C. F. Collier, of Cherokee, Iowa, but Electric Bitters did it. He writes: "My kidneys were so far gone, I could not sit on a chair without a cushion; and suffered from dreadful backache, headache and depression. In Electric Bitters, however, I found a cure, and by then was restored to perfect health. I recommend this great tonic medicine to all with weak kidneys, liver or stomach." ## Dangers of Defective Plumbing!

Defective plumbing permits the entrance into the house of sewer gas, bearing germs of contagious disease to which the human system readily succumbs. Sewer gas is not necessarily generated in the sewer, but is frequently created in the plumbing system within the home and enters the apartments through defective fixtures. If in doubt consult us regarding the piping and repairing defective fixtures with "STANDARD" Porcelain Enameled Ware, acknowledged as the best sanitary equipment.

THE WORLD AND A LIVING.

Do Not Be an Ingrate, an Enemy of Civilization.

A fifteen-year-old bell boy was arrested in Cleveland for stealing $8. When asked in court why he stole, he said, "Because the world owes me a living." No doubt the youth had heard this many times from older lips.

A vast number of people seem to think that God and the world are under great obligations to them and that the world owes them a living without any return service from them. Not long ago I heard a young woman say that she did not consider that she owed the world anything, that she was thrust into it without being consulted, that she proposed to get out of it what she could, with as little effort as possible, and that she did not feel under the slightest obligation to the past.

But did you never think, my idle friend, what you really owe the world for the privilege of living in it? Did you ever think that all the civilizations of the globe have been working for you through all the ages up to the present moment and that you are reaping the harvest of all the hard working, sacrificing, suffering, drudging sowers that have preceded you? Can you look the workers of the world in the face and tell them that you intend to have all the benefits of their labor, to enjoy all the good things of the world without doing anything to compensate for them?

Everything that has gone before you enters into your life and time. You enjoy the sum of all the past every moment of your life. Think of the untold thousands who have laid down their lives to make possible the comforts, the blessings and the immunities you now enjoy. Think of the rivers of blood that have been spilt, of the thousands who have perished or lived in the misery of prison and dungeon to purchase the liberties of speech and freedom of action which you enjoy today. How many lives have been lived in solitude and misery in order to develop sciences which are today beacon lights of the world!

If all the workers and all the wealth of the world today had been employed for thousands of years for your special benefit, to prepare for your reception upon the earth, they could not have provided a title of the comforts, the conveniences, the facilities, the immunities, the emancipation from drudgery, the luxuries which you round waiting for you when you were born and for which you gave not a penny or a thought, and yet you say that the world owes you this and the other and that you owe it nothing! Who are you that you claim a living from the world, when perhaps you have not earned the clothing you have on your back or the shelter which covers your head? Why should tens of thousands of people do drudgery and endure hardships and privations to produce all of the useful things, the beautiful things, the luxuries for you to enjoy without effort?

Is he not a thief, an enemy of civilization, who thrusts his arm into the great world's storehouse, pulling out all the good things he wishes and refusing to put anything back in exchange?—Success.

Ethics of the Laboratory.

A knowledge of chemistry is not the only lesson to be learned in the laboratory. I know of no other part of the high school or college that develops in so great a degree certain valuable qualities and habits. Cleanliness, accuracy, self reliance and consideration for the rights of others may be called the cardinal virtues of the laboratory.

The observant student learns soon after his initiation into the mysteries of the laboratory, or perhaps only after a few failures, that much of his work has been unsuccessful because he has not kept things clean. Everything about his desk and his locker must be spotless and always in order. This, by the way, is a fine opportunity for the boy that has never had to do anything for himself.

The student next learns that absolute accuracy is the royal road to success. His notes must be carefully taken and later must be as carefully extended, with special attention to systematic arrangement. Directions must be followed exactly—at least until the student has had experience sufficient to justify his making original experiments.—School Journal.

Traitor to Her Sex.

"Oh, she's not at all nice," said little Elsie. "She's always wishin' she was a boy."
"Well," replied Mabel, "I wish I was too."
"I know, but she wishes it out loud, so the boys can hear her."—Philadelphia Press.
